LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS CATCHING IT HEAVY

Circuit Court Criminal Docket Is Fast Being Cleaned Up—Some of the Cases

When the case of Eva Bicknell, charged with violating the liquor laws, was called in Madison circuit court early this week Jack Merritt, a material witness in the case, did not answer. He came into court Wednesday, however, and told Judge Shackelford that the Bicknell woman had given him $25 to get out of town, so as not to testify against her. Merritt said he went to Knoxville, but his money ran out there and he decided to come on back home. Judge Shackelford fined Merritt $20 for contempt of court and officials say that there are now two charges, so a store for Mrs. Bicknell, for it is a serious offense to tamper with witnesses. Her trial on the liquor law violation case is set for trial on Feb. 23d.

Commonwealth's Attorney V. J. Baxter, working in his first term of court here, is "taking the boys over the hump" and cleaning up the criminal docket in rapid shape. William Ritter, failed to answer to his name when called to face a charge of carrying concealed deadly weapons, so his $100 bond was declared forfeit, and he was tried in his absence. He was then sentenced to serve 40 days in jail and pay a fine of $100.

The bond of Alonzo Harris, amounting to $500, was also forfeited upon his failure to appear to answer to his name.

James Parks, colored, charged with grand larceny, and his bond of $500 forfeited.

H. L. Foye failed to appear to answer to the charge of having given a "cold check" to Rice & Arnold. His $200 bond was then declared forfeit and he was sentenced to his county to pay $100 fine and spend 30 days in prison.

On Feb. 6 charged with having liquor for the purpose of sale was given a fine of $200 and 30 days in jail. On a similar charge A. B. Abell was arrested. Fans Meet Tonight

Baseball fans who want to see Richmond have a team in the Blue Grass league are requested to meet at the Richmond Motor Company tonight at 7:30 o'clock. A report must be made to the meeting of representatives from the towns which want representation in the league at Lexington Friday night. Somehow, many of the dyes-in-the-wool fans here are like warm about the matter, it seems; at least, they have been keeping awfully quiet about it.

Some hard foreign substance became lodged in the esophagus of little Edith Woods, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Wagers, while she was playing at their home at Waco Sunday and for a time it choked the child would choke to death. She was hurried to a physician and obtained relief. Dr. C. F. Being unable to reach it here, it was decided to send the little girl to a hospital at Louisville, so her parents drove there with her for treatment there Wednesday.

WELLS CASE TRIALS ON FEBRUARY 27

Confusion Caused In Date—Keith's Bond Is Lowered From $15,000 To $4,000

The trials of Lawrence Pierce and Tom Keith on charge of abducting and assaulting Peter W. Wells, will be tried on the 27th day of the present term of circuit court and not the 24th day of February. The 24th day of the term falls on Monday, February 27th, and the trials will begin on that day, and not February 24th as was erroneously stated yesterday.

Two indictments were returned by the grand jury against Pierce, Keith and Monk Wilson. One charges confederating and banding together to intimidate and injure, resulting in injury and the other charges robbery.

When the indictments were returned to court, Judge Shackelford lowered the bail of Keith from $15,000 to $4,000. As will be recalled, Keith confessed, in connection with the near-tragedy, Wilson is still a fugitive. It is expected that Pierce will soon be brought to the local jail from Winchester where he has been incarcerated since his examination trial, having been unable to give the $30,000 bond required of him.

The first batch of indictments returned by the grand jury exclusive of the Pierce case, numbered 17. Sheriff Elmer Deatherage got busy and had many of those indicted in custody, at once. The indictments include six for carrying concealed deadly weapons; nine for violating the prohibition law; one for transporting liquor, and one for grand larceny.

ANTI-RACING BILL KILLED IN SENATE

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 9.—Senator John A. Lee's anti-racing bill was killed in the Senate Wednesday afternoon when, by a vote of 26 to 19, that body refused first reading to the measure, which had been adversely reported by the committee on judiciary. Four members signed the adverse report, the other members voting to advance the bill to first reading.

That the opponents of racing did not muster as much strength as they had, was indicated in the explanation during the voting, as Senator Taywood said that while he would vote to give the measure first reading, it was not to be taken as an indication as to how he would vote on question of passage. The detailed vote was as follows:

For first reading—Bell, Caywood, Daugherty, Garner, Green, Hall, Harris, Lee, Marshall, Rasmussen, 40.

Against first reading—Baker, Branstetter, Bright, Black, Davis, Dennison, Kelly, Kline, Metzger, Monroe, Moss, Perry, Points, Reynolds, Ryan, Simmons, Stoll, Taylor, Wallace, Watts, Welch, White, Whitaker, 26.

WANTS TOMB OF FIRST GOVERNOR HONORED

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 8.—On the border of Lincoln county, just over the line from Shelby County, the remains of Isaac Shelby, first and fourth governor of Kentucky, lie in a neglected grave in the old Shelby burial ground at Acadia, ancestral estate of the Shelys, from which place in 1792 he rode horseback to Lexington to take the oath of office after Kentucky had split on from Virginia and become a state. A bill was placed before the General Assembly by Representative Lester J. Jeter, of Lincoln county, would remedy the neglect of the grave of Kentucky's first governor. The Lincoln representative asks the state to appropriate $5,000 for a proper marker for the grave of Gov. Shelby, and to keep it in a state fitting to the history of Kentucky and its first man.

History records much of the deeds of Isaac Shelby as a pioneer of Kentucky. He had much to do with the settlement of Lincoln county, one of the first three counties formed in Kentucky, and with the pioneer work of the state. He was elected governor in 1792 and served from June 2 to that year until June 7, 1796. He was elected again in 1812 and served from June 1 of that year to June 1, 1816.

In letters to Representative Jeter and to Senator Joseph D. B. Pendragon, of Shelby County, who has introduced the bill in the matter, it is stated that at the 1920 session of the Assembly a bill was introduced but was killed in a markup in the House of Representatives. He says that he has talked to members of the Shelby family and that they are anxious that the state mark the grave.

The spot where the former governor lies is said to be almost barren. Mr. Pendragon promises to give all necessary land for drives into the burial ground without expense to the state if the monument is erected.

Miss Emily Jane Golden is spending the week with Miss Anna B. Cornelison.

Mrs. Seth Cornelison is a patient at the Katie Clay Infirmary. Mr. Mat Moore spent the week end with home folks.

CHARGES DR. ZINKE MADE HIM CAPTIVE

Former Local Physician Seems To Be In Peculiar Mix-up In Cincinnati

Many here, where Dr. Zinke formerly lived will be interested in the following from the Cincinnati Times-Star:

As the result of an unusual and harrowing experience he said he had Sunday night, Clarence Doppler, 2215 Harrison avenue, swore to warrants Monday for the arrest of Dr. Stanley Zinke, 42 Remaine Building, Clifton, on charges of pointing fire arms, disorderly conduct and threatening to assault. Doppler told the police that while he was driving home toward he noticed that another automobile seemed to be following his car. He speeded up his machine, he said, and drove rapidly along Clifton avenue to Dixsmith, McMicken, Hopple and then Riddle road, where, when he looked back to see where he still was followed, he lost control of the car and it hit a post, throwing him to the ground. In a moment, he told the police, his pursuer was upon him, armed with two revolvers. "You are under arrest," Doppler claims, the man said. "Thinking the man was a bandit, he said, 'Take all my money but don't shoot me.'"

Then, Doppler relates, the man compelled him to straddle the radiator of his machine, and driving with one hand and "covering" him with the revolver in the other, the driver proceeded to take him to the police station. There, Doppler told the police later, his captor said: "Get inside; I'll show you some fast driving." Doppler charges that the man drove about 50 miles an hour to the Fourth street police station, where he charged Doppler with reckless driving, and then alleging that Doppler had been drinking, insisted that he be taken to the general hospital for examination. This, he said, was done and it was found that Doppler had not been drinking. In fact, Doppler said, he has never taken a drink at any time.

About two hours later Dr. Zinke's car was found wrecked on Glenmary avenue, where it had cut a telephone pole in two, later police were summoned to the Zinke apartments but were told that their services were not required.

Monday morning Zinke did not appear to prosecute Doppler and the record of the case was erased. Thereupon Doppler swore to the servants against the physician. At the office of the physician it was said Monday that Dr. Zinke would not be there during the day. Neither could he be communicated with at his home.

STANDARD SAYS IT IS CUTTING GAS PRICES

Mayor O'Neil's Letter Gets Quick Results From One Big Gasoline Producer

Mayor O'Neil appears to have accomplished something for the benefit of gasoline users of Richmond by his letters to the big oil companies. He received a reply from the Standard Oil Company that a cut is being made in the price of gasoline it sells here. The letter says:

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 7, 1922. Hon. Wm. O'Neil, Mayor, Richmond, Kentucky. Dear Sir:

Your letter of February 3rd in regard to price of gasoline has been received and noted. We are very glad to be able to advise you that this question of price at Richmond was adjusted last week the new price going into effect Monday of this week. This adjustment in price has been made possible by new arrangements in freight rates which go into effect April 1. We have, however, decided to give our customers the advantage of this new rate in advance, and this change puts Richmond on the same basis of price as Lexington, Paris, Winchester, Lancaster, Nicholasville, etc.

Heretofore freight on tankcar shipments from our Baton Rouge, Louisiana, refinery have cost us 1.12 per gallon more than at Lexington. On the new schedule on the railroad rate from Baton Rouge will be the same as Lexington. We are very glad to be able to make this change and while the rate from Louisville to Richmond is still about one-half cent per gallon higher than to Lexington, we are going to give Richmond the benefit of the same price as Lexington.

Yours truly,
H. McGOODWIN, Jr., Mgr.

MADISON HI WINS FROM LEXINGTON

Both Madison Hi basketball teams revenge defeats at the hands of Lexington Model Hi suffered last year, when they easily defeated Lexington's boys and girls' Model teams here Wednesday night, the local girls winning by a score of 12 to 2, while the Madison boys captured by a 29 to 7 score.

Boys' Game

After a few rounds of play the Madison boys found themselves and ran away with the U. K. Model Hi. Passing featured in the wonderful playing of Madison. They led the attack at all stages of the game and were easy victors. Many times the Madison team carried the ball from under the shadows of the Lexington goal to close shooting distance. Here the ball ended in the hands of Talton Stone and he handled it with the best of skill, scoring 23 of the 29 points made by Madison. He opened the game with a long shot and soon afterward pitched one from closer range. He showed much skill in shooting goals from all angles. He also dribbled nicely and eluded his guard with ease. Chase was responsible for the rest of Madison's points. He made one shot from center that never touched the rim of the basket. It was indeed a pretty shot.

Good defensive work also featured in Madison's victory. The five man defense of the boys worked to perfection. They broke up pass after pass of the Lexington team. Captain Hurst and Reeves at guards with Blewins at center, assisted by Chase and Stone at forwards did fine work. The visitors from Lexington did not make a single field goal in the first half. This is the best proof of the work on defense. Hurst broke up many passes and with his familiar left handed shot returned the ball to Madison territory.

Lexington Model played a tough luck. They missed many shots at the start when they had their best chance to win. Reynolds scored all the points for the visitors. He was the man to make the two field goals against Madison. The rest were scored as the result of free throws. The Madison team has progressed rapidly under Coach Lassiter, who expects them to give a good account of themselves in inter-sectional tourney at Winchester March 3 and 4. The line-up:
Madison—T. Stone, (23) pt; Chase, (6) ft; Blewins, c; Hurst, rg; Reeves, lg.
U. K. Model—Reynolds, (7) pt; Hopkins, ft; Leach, c; Warren, rg; Triplett, lg.

Girls' Game

The Madison girls fared as well as the boys, but had some tough luck in goal shooting. It seemed at a certain stage in the first half that the ball would not go in the goal. Several easy shots were missed. The Madison girls showed a fine game on the defense and held the Lexington girls without a field goal during the contest. At the start of the game Miss Yates at center tipped the ball to Miss Bennett. She dribbled the ball close to the goal and shot. This gave the Madison girls a lead that was not overcome. Miss Bennett made two other goals during the game and played a fine game on the floor. Miss Yates scored four points for Madison with two long range field goals. Miss Blanton was responsible for the rest of the points with a field goal. Misses Myers and Terrill at guards held the Model attack in the palms of their hands. They did excellent guarding.

Just at the close of the third quarter a collision between Miss Blanton, of Madison, and Misses Hayman and Greyhouse, of Lexington, resulted in injury to the Lexington girls. In the fall Miss Hayman's teeth were injured and Miss Greyhouse's hand was badly cut. The game was called after this accident on account of the injuries and lack of time.

The line-up:
Madison Hi—Blanton, (2) pt; Bennett, (6) ft; Yates, (5) c; Terrill, rg; Myers, lg.
U. K. Model Hi—Stone, (2) pt; Thompson, ft; Greyhouse, c; Sharp, rg; Hayman, lg.

GIRL CLUB MEMBERS PLEASED WITH WORK

County Agent Robert E. Chase of Berea, sends the Daily Register a letter from a Junior Agricultural Club member, a 1921 member, for the benefit of other boys and girls of Madison county. It reads:
I am a Junior Agricultural Club member, raising pure bred Rhode Island Red chickens. I have raised these birds for four years and have no other kind on the farm. I have been a member for two years and am glad to be listed for this year. I have kept an accurate record during this time, keeping a daily record on eggs I get as follows:
January 1, 1920, we had on the farm 132 hens and pullets on February 30 graded and sold 55, leaving 77. Our egg production during that year was 1175. We raised a nice number of pullets.
January 1, 1921, we had 105 sold in February 55, leaving 50 and producing 5795 eggs, selling lots of them for setting purposes.
I raised last year the largest number at as expense than any club member reported on in the county. I am glad to be a club member and raise nice birds, the Rhode Island Reds.

Dear girls, don't you want to join? If you do, write to our county agent, Robert E. Chase. He will be glad to tell you every way possible. He will write some nice letters, send you bulletins that will give all the information necessary to care for your flock.
I find the task not so hard but pleasure and exercise and the best of all some real money in it. Write your County Agent for cards. Let's make 1922 the banner year. Yours very truly,
JESSIE JOHNSON
Cove Club, Orlando, Ky.

Joke Not Ended Yet
Frankfort, Feb. 7.—That the "anti-evolution" forces have not accepted the ridicule of the press and educators of the nation as defeat for the bills introduced in the assembly to forbid the teaching of Darwin's theories, was indicated by literature distributed in the House today. Marked copies of a Lexington paper containing a quarter page advertisement of quotations from textbooks and educators were placed on the desks of Representatives. The quotations were of a nature to arouse opposition on religious grounds such as were set forth by William Jennings Bryan in his address.
